

AWAKE Fundraiser Request

What is AWAKE?

Jackson County's Children's Advocacy Center, AWAKE, Adults Working and Advocating for Kids' Empowerment, was established in 1993 as a non-profit agency with the mission of coordinating and advocating for abused children. AWAKE assists law enforcement and social workers with their investigation of child abuse cases by conducting onsite forensic interviews, medical exams, trauma-focused counseling, and court support—all in a child-friendly environment—and at no cost to the family. AWAKE coordinates regularly scheduled case review meetings with representatives from child protective services, law enforcement, legal, medical, and mental health professionals. The Center also offers courtesy services to other counties, states, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as needed.

Why is fundraising important to AWAKE?

As a non-profit agency, a large percentage of our funding comes through grants that often have unique restrictions and/or cash match requirements. Unrestricted funds are vital to ensure the Center is able to keep the doors open to serve child abuse victims.
